Comments

The idea of representation is preeminent in function representation. To add $\frac{1}{2} = \frac{1}{2}$, you will explain that $\frac{1}{2}$ can be multiplied by $\frac{2}{2}$ to give $\frac{2}{4}$.

Students should find the developed function representation for the given representation $\frac{1}{2} = \frac{1}{2} = \frac{2}{4}$.

You are defining equivalent functions by showing that functions are equivalent if they cover the same portion of the circle. Emphasizing in different words that for the function symbols are different, but if it is equal parts, covers the same amount as that is equal parts.
