and the costs associated with this policy stance Simply put FDI is not a condition sine qua non for development Too much emphasis has been placed on attracting FDI and not on understanding how to optimise the benefits for the host economy This volume aims to encourage and promote research related to these issues This volume was previously published as a special issue of the European Journal of Development Research

Authoritarianism Ashgate 2005 Cooperation in the Greater Caribbean Norman Girvan,2006 Over the past 50 years there has been a subtle shift in the proclaimed identity of the Caribbean The development of a pan Caribbean consciousness transcending language and colonial ties has become even more pronounced in the post independence era The famed 1992 report of the West India Commission A Time for Action widely regarded as the turning point in contemporary Caribbean development recommended a deepening of CARICOM and a simultaneous widening of functional cooperation The result was the creation of the Association of Caribbean States ACS with potential membership of all the countries of the Caribbean Basin In this volume Norman Girvan examines the issues and obstacles challenges and opportunities presented by this functional cooperation and presented the ACS as a viable vehicle to help CARICOM nations meet the challenges of the new globalized environment

Civilising Globalisation David Kinley,2009-08-13 Economic globalisation and universal human rights both have the aspiration and power to improve and enrich individuals and communities However their respective institutions methods practices and goals differ leading to both detrimental clashes and beneficial synergies In this book David Kinley analyses how human rights intersect with the trade aid and commercial dimensions of global economic relations taking the view that while the global economy is a vitally important civilising instrument it itself requires civilising according to human rights standards Combining meticulous research with highly informed views and experiences he outlines the intellectual policy and practical frameworks for ensuring that the global economy advances the ends of human rights argues for better exploitation of the global economy's capacity to distribute as well as create wealth and proposes mechanisms by which to minimise and manage the socially debilitating effects of its market failures and financial meltdowns Normative Conditions to Make WTO Law More Responsive to the Needs of Developing Countries Philipp Scheuermann, 2010

The WTO and Infant Industry Promotion in Developing Countries Juan He, 2014-09-25 The charter of the World Trade Organization WTO sets the tone that sustainable trade and economic development dominates multilateral trade negotiation and specific working agreements This book examines the novel challenge for developing countries to upgrade and optimize their industrial structure and trade composition by stimulating genuinely innovative and competitive industrial strength The book specifically explores the issue of infant industry promotion under the legal framework of the WTO treaties and case law Taking the regulatory measures and incentives China has used to build up a large civil aircraft supplier the book evaluates the key trade agreements relevant to infant industry promotional policies and practices such as product regulations and standards under the Agreement on Technical Barriers to Trade and export promotion policies under the Agreement on Subsidies and Countervailing Measures Juan He argues that the regulatory room prescribed by the multilateral trade rules of the WTO does not allow adequate space for developing countries to encourage new and technologically advanced areas of production and trade The author concludes by suggesting ways in which WTO rules could be modified to help enable developing countries industrialization In doing so the book highlights a need to investigate how localized and international policy trends can be reconciled and enhanced towards the common goal of development The book will be of great interest to scholars and students of international trade law Chinese studies international political economy and of great use to government agencies responsible for internal trade and industrial policy decisions Global Poverty, Ethics and Human Rights Desmond McNeill, Asunción Lera StClair, 2009-01-15 Examines the activities of the World Bank and the United Nations Development Programme in relation to the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization and the Inter American Development Bank

Globalization John

Glenn,2012-08-06 Rather than claim that there exists a common concept of globalization that all parties can agree to this book seeks to examine some of the conceptions and the way in which they render different interpretations of particular aspects of globalization The last two decades have witnessed an explosive proliferation of academic writings on the subject of globalization which has been accompanied by a high level of interest in the media and widespread usage of the term This has inevitably resulted in the meaning of the concept broadening to include a whole host of issues running the attendant risk of losing any conceptual focus it had John Glenn examines five issue areas affected by globalization the economy sovereignty civil society governance communication In so doing the book aims to articulate certain questions within each area which will allow for some judgment to be made concerning the differing perspectives on globalization Globalization will be of interest to students of international political economy and politics and international relations in general The Truth about Trade

Clive George,2013-07-04 Is it really true that the trade agreements pursued in the World Trade Organisation and through regional negotiations are vital for eliminating world poverty and achieving a sustainable future Or is trade liberalization the villain of the piece Clive George s provocative book examines the evidence exposes the myths and presents challenging new proposals for comprehensive reform of the global trading system Based on ten years of in depth research into the impacts of trade agreements on sustainable development it reveals that few of the claims made by the major players stand up to scrutiny while many of the counter claims lack rigour in their analysis of key issues It cuts through the rhetoric with illuminating anecdotes from the author s experience of working with trade negotiators to present a more realistic view of their motives and the outcomes they achieve Each of the components of the negotiation agenda is examined in turn to identify the most likely economic social and environmental impacts of liberalising trade in manufactured goods agriculture services investment intellectual property rights and the other rules by which trade is governed In some cases the rhetoric approximates to reality while in many others the negotiated outcomes do more harm than good to both development and its environmental sustainability From its analysis of the relationships between trade social transformation economic growth and environmental integrity the book concludes with proposals for how the world trade regime might be reformed to help tackle the world s most pressing problems instead of making them worse TRIPS Agreement of the WTO Mohammad Towhidul

Islam,2014-07-24 This book examines the application of the World Trade Organization s WTO Agreement on Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights TRIPS in the fields of agriculture public health and economic development in a Least Developed Country LDC such as Bangladesh In particular it evaluates the question whether the TRIPS one size fits all approach compulsorily applicable for all countries irrespective of their development standing fulfils the developmental needs of Bangladesh and other such LDCs in the fields of agriculture public health and economic development The book shows that the TRIPS introduction of IPRs in the name of Plant Varieties Protection PVP and patents not only secures private sector investment in agriculture but also brings traditional agricultural practices within the spectrum of private monopoly increases the price of agricultural products and forces people into dependency on engineered seeds and other agricultural inputs To guard against such trade rules this book recommends that Bangladesh should incorporate the TRIPS flexibilities in the form of redefining patentable invention choosing between patents and PVP and providing for compulsory licensing This book also reveals that the TRIPS patenting in pharmaceuticals encourages innovations by ensuring royalty collections and protects public health by raising standards of living However patenting offers exclusivity to pharmaceutical companies extending the duration of the patent term and establishing their control over production supply and distribution Such control results in exclusivity over drug pricing The flexibilities of the compliance deadline compulsory licensing and parallel importation built into the TRIPS are set to tackle untenable situations arising from patenting exclusivity However patent laws in most LDCs are out dated in terms of dealing with such flexibilities Given this the research recommends that Bangladesh should invoke the TRIPS flexibilities The author of this book further establishes that the TRIPS standard setting in agriculture and pharmaceuticals does not help the country to fulfil subsistence needs or promote economic development through innovation However the appropriation of agricultural and pharmaceutical goods during the use of the TRIPS flexibilities has the potential to feed the people protect public health interests and increase economic development with the supply of food and drugs at home and abroad To this end the research asks Bangladesh to reform its existing IPRs provisions by redefining patentable inventions and simplifying compulsory licensing and other differential treatments to appropriate foreign technologies

Developing Countries in the WTO Legal System Chantal Thomas, Joel P Trachtman, 2009-04-15 With contributions from some of the leading experts in international trade law and economics Joel P Trachtman and Chantal Thomas have compiled a comprehensive volume that looks at the positioning of developing countries within the WTO system These chapters address some of the most pressing issues facing these countries while reflecting on Robert E Hudec s groundbreaking book Developing Countries in the GATT Legal System In his landmark contribution Hudec argued against preferential and non reciprocal treatment for developing countries He did so on the basis of a combination of economic political and legal insights that persuasively demonstrated that non reciprocal treatment would not benefit developing countries It is a testament to Hudec s legacy that his analysis is still the object of scholarly discussion more than 20 years later The first part of this book evaluates the general situation of developing countries within the WTO The second part examines market access and competition law within these countries Lastly it discusses the special arrangements these countries have with international financial institutions the developing country s capacity to litigate and an analysis of the country s level of participation in WTO dispute settlements uniqueness of the Catholic Church as the foremost institution in the world that can confront issues in world trade that affect the common good The distinguished author Rev Dr Alphonsus Ihuoma provides a superbly broad and deep examination that is both scholarly and practical of the mission of the Catholic Church in the world as one that centers on the temporal and eternal needs of humanity His discussion treats thoughtfully the mediatory role of the church in world affairs and argues persuasively that the church has been engaged in this role since its very beginning even before nations embraced organized politics two thousand years ago This remarkable book is a great tool for any reader seeking to know more about the unique position of the church in world affairs especially in the GATT WTO system The book rightly lauds the church's achievements in history But it equally and rightly argues that the church must do more to address present challenges in the world trading system Readers will be enlightened by the treatment of the failures of the GATT WTO system in pursuing the objectives for which it was established the church's efforts to pursue vital related objectives and the need for her to do more The
