Human Performance Improvement William J. Rothwell, Carolyn K. Hohne, Stephen B. King, 2018-01-31 Organizations are under pressure to build and sustain competitive advantage with and through people For that reason managers continue to demand results from workers and look for as many ways as possible to increase productivity and decrease the costs of doing business Human performance improvement HPI is a systematic approach to securing better performance from people This book provides a thorough overview of the theory and practice of HPI looking at the long term action plan and specific interventions that can improve productivity and address performance problems This new edition provides up to date references and sources examines the manager s role in HPI in more detail than previous editions and explores how to build on human performance improvement strengths and opportunities Written by a group of highly respected authors in the field this book will show you how to discover and analyze performance gaps plan for future improvements in human performance and design and develop cost effective interventions to close performance gaps HPI is not a tool reserved exclusively for training and development practitioners human resource specialists or external consultants Almost anyone can use it including managers supervisors and even employees making this book vital reading for anyone looking to improve human performance

Mastering the Instructional Design Process William J. Rothwell, H. C. Kazanas, 2011-01-06 The fourth edition of Mastering the Instructional Design Process has been completely revised and updated and is based on the instructional design competencies of the International Board of Standards of Performance and Instruction IBSTPI The book identifies the core competencies of instructional system design and presents them in a way that helps to develop these competencies and apply them successfully in real world settings This comprehensive resource covers the full range of topics for understanding and mastering the instructional design process including detecting and solving human performance problems analyzing needs learners work settings and work establishing performance objectives and performance measurements delivering the instruction effectively and managing instructional design projects successfully Proceedings of the 6th Ph.D. Retreat of the HPI Research School on Service-oriented Systems Engineering Meinel, Christoph, Plattner, Hasso, Döllner, Jürgen, Weske, Mathias, Polze, Andreas, Hirschfeld, Robert, Naumann, Felix, Giese, Holger, Baudisch, Patrick, 2013

HPI Balanced Scorecard Clare Novak, 2000-10 Building a New Performance Vision Thomas J. LaBonte, 2023-05-26 Despite their best efforts many organizations find it difficult to shake the silo mentality that stands in the way of real strides in performance improvement Building a New Performance Vision addresses this issue head on by arguing that training human resources organizational development quality information technology and knowledge management professionals should all be playing on the same HPI team Each of these functions spends most of its energy promoting individual agendas and not the organization s business and performance needs The cure for this unhappy state of affairs is the creation of a single unified HPI process and function that brings together these disparate groups under the banner of shared business goals Readers are offered a clear path to accomplish this organizational feat through the use of step by step instructions tools tips and job aids High-Performance Coaching for Managers William J.

Rothwell,Behnam Bakhshandeh,2022-07-05 Coaching is a necessary skill for managers It is important as a fundamental part of an organization s talent efforts including talent acquisition development and retention strategies For a coaching program to succeed in an organization it should be recognized as a useful approach throughout the organization and become part of the fabric of the corporate culture Performance Coaching for Managers provides an important tool for organizations to use to train their managers on coaching This book differs significantly from other books in the coaching market Many books on coaching cast coaches as facilitators who question their clients the coachees helping them to articulate their own problems formulate their own solutions develop their own action plans to solve problems and measure the success of efforts to implement those plans That is called a nondirective approach But this book adopts a directive approach by casting the coach as a manager who diagnoses the problems with worker job performance and offers specific advice on how to solve those problems While there is nothing wrong with a nondirective approach it does not always work well in job performance reviews in which the manager must inform the worker about gaps between what is needed the desired and what is performed the actual The significant difference between what is currently available in the market and what is offered in this book is the authors collective experience of over 70 combined years of hands on research and delivery experiences in the Human Resources Development field According to the Harvard Business Review 2015 workers generally expect their immediate supervisors to give them honest feedback on how well they do their jobs and specific advice on what to do if they are not performing in alignment with organizational expectations When workers do not receive advice but instead are questioned about their own views they regard their managers as either incompetent or disingenuous Effective managers should be able to offer direction to their employees After all managers are responsible for ensuring that their organizational units deliver the results needed by the organization If they fail to do that the organization does not achieve its strategic goals This book gives managers direction in how to offer directive coaching to their workers The AMA Handbook of E-Learning George M. Piskurich,2003-07-21 This authoritative sourcebook is a timely decision making tool for companies making the transition to or already using e learning Featuring all original contributions from high profile practitioners and renowned theorists the book reveals how top companies are implementing and using this crucial employee development tool Topics include analyzing organizational need selling e learning to the organization learning management systems synchronous collaboration learning portals repurposing materials outsourcing and vendor relations Other chapters focus on motivation and retention technological and software options measuring ROI and more Business Process Change Paul Harmon,2003 Paul Harman focuses on the process change problems faced by today s managers He summarizes the state of the art of business process analysis presents a methodology based on best practices and offers detailed case studies Group Practice Journal ,2009

Service-Oriented Mapping Jürgen Döllner, Markus Jobst, Peter Schmitz, 2018-06-07 This book gathers various perspectives on modern map production Its primary focus is on the new paradigm of sharing and reuse which is based on decentralized service oriented access to spatial data sources Service Oriented Mapping is one of the main paradigms used to embed big data and distributed sources in modern map production without the need to own the sources To be stable and reliable this architecture requires specific frameworks tools and procedures In addition to the technological structures organizational aspects and geographic information system GIS capabilities provide powerful tools to make modern geoinformation management successful Addressing a range of aspects including the implementation of the semantic web in geoinformatics using big data for geospatial visualization standardization initiatives and the European spatial data infrastructure the book offers a comprehensive introduction to decentralized map production ASTD Handbook for Workplace Learning Professionals Elaine Biech, 2008-05-01 Here s the must have reference book for anyone involved in training human resources development and workplace learning Published by the most trusted name in the industry The ASTD Handbook for Workplace Learning Professionals is a required tool for all learning professionals This practical go to resource is a new contribution to the field comprising 50 chapters each authored by renowned industry practitioners The handbook offers the most up to date methodologies and practices covering the entire range of the training and development profession and also includes valuable worksheets and tools on a companion CD ROM The SAGE Encyclopedia of Economics and Society Frederick F. Wherry, Juliet B. Schor, Consulting Editor, 2015-09-01 Economics is the nexus and engine that runs society affecting societal well being raising standards of living when economies prosper or lowering citizens through class structures when economies perform poorly Our society only has to witness the booms and busts of the past decade to see how economics profoundly affects the cores of societies around the world From a household budget to international trade economics ranges from the micro to the macro level It relates to a breadth of social science disciplines that help describe the content of the proposed encyclopedia which will explicitly approach economics through varied disciplinary lenses Although there are encyclopedias of covering economics especially classic economic theory and history the SAGE Encyclopedia of Economics and Society emphasizes the contemporary world contemporary issues and society Features 4 volumes with approximately 800 signed articles ranging from 1 000 to 5 000 words each are presented in a choice of print or electronic editions Organized A to Z with a thematic Reader s Guide in the front matter groups related entries Articles conclude with References Future Readings to guide students to the next step on their research journeys Cross references between and among articles combine with a thorough Index and the Reader s Guide to enhance search and browse in the electronic version Pedagogical elements include a Chronology of Economics and Society Resource Guide and Glossary This academic multi author reference work will serve as a general non technical resource for students and researchers within social science programs who seek to better understand economics through a contemporary lens Green Management Swati

Deep learning for computer vision in the art domain Christian Bartz, Ralf Krestel, 2021-11-15 In recent years computer vision algorithms based on machine learning have seen rapid development In the past research mostly focused on solving computer vision problems such as image classification or object detection on images displaying natural scenes Nowadays other fields such as the field of cultural heritage where an abundance of data is available also get into the focus of research In the line of current research endeavours we collaborated with the Getty Research Institute which provided us with a challenging dataset containing images of paintings and drawings In this technical report we present the results of the seminar Deep Learning for Computer Vision In this seminar students of the Hasso Plattner Institute evaluated state of the art approaches for image classification object detection and image recognition on the dataset of the Getty Research Institute The main challenge when applying modern computer vision methods to the available data is the availability of annotated training data as the dataset provided by the Getty Research Institute does not contain a sufficient amount of annotated samples for the training of deep neural networks However throughout the report we show that it is possible to achieve satisfying to very good results when using further publicly available datasets such as the WikiArt dataset for the training of machine learning models
