On the Move to Meaningful Internet Systems 2004: OTM 2004 Workshops Zahir Tari, Angelo Corsaro, 2004-10-14 A special mention for 2004 is in order for the new Doctoral Symposium Workshop where three young postdoc researchers organized an original setup and formula to bring PhD students together and allow them to submit their research proposals for selection. A limited number of the submissions and their approaches were independently evaluated by a panel of senior experts at the conference and presented by the students in front of a wider audience. These students also got free access to all other parts of the OTM program and only paid a heavily discounted fee for the Doctoral Symposium itself. In fact, their attendance was largely sponsored by the other participants. If evaluated as successful, it is the intention of the General Chairs to expand this model in future editions of the OTM conferences and so draw in an audience of young researchers to the OnTheMove forum. All three main conferences and the associated workshops share the distributed aspects of modern computing systems and the resulting applications pulled created by the Internet and the so-called Semantic Web. For DOA 2004, the primary emphasis stayed on the distributed object infrastructure for ODBASE 2004; it was the knowledge bases and methods required for enabling the use of formal semantics and for CoopIS 2004, the main topic was the interaction of such technologies and methods with management issues such as occurs in networked organizations. These subject areas naturally overlap and many submissions in fact do not treat envisaged mutual impacts among them.

Watching the Directives Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee, 2006-06-29 The EU Physical Agents Electromagnetic Fields Directive which was adopted in April 2004 and must be enshrined in law in EU member states by April 2008 sets out exposure limits designed to provide a minimum standard of protection from occupational exposure to electromagnetic fields (EMF). The Committee's report focuses on the impact of this Directive on the use of magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) equipment for diagnosis, treatment and research use. This is the first of three case studies under the Committee's overarching inquiry into the way scientific evidence and advice is used by the UK Government to influence policy at EU level. It finds that there were failings in the way scientific advice was used to inform the Directive both in Brussels and in the UK. The European Commission relied too heavily on one source of advice and was not sufficiently responsive to concerns raised by the magnetic resonance community whilst there was serious failings in the consultation process in the UK, particularly by the Health and Safety Executive and by the Health Protection Agency.

Tolley's Practical Risk Assessment Handbook Mike Bateman, 2006 Risk assessment has become the backbone of Health and Safety management in the UK and elsewhere. Employers have a legal duty to prove that risk assessments have been carried out and precautions have been implemented. Mike Bateman demystifies the risk assessment process and how it relates to UK legislation. Previous ed. Croydon: LexisNexis, 2003.
