Martin, Jr.,2025-04-22 The convergence of the politics of representation and Black fan cultures Boldly going where few fandom scholars have gone before Fandom for Us by Us breaks from our focus on white fandom to center Black fandoms Alfred L Martin Jr engages these fandoms through what he calls the four C's class clout canon and comfort Class is a key component of how Black fandom is contingent on distinctions between white nationally recognized cultural productions and multicultural and or regional cultural productions as demonstrated by Misty Copeland's ascension in American Ballet Theatre Clout refers to Black fans realization of their own consumer spending power as an agent for industrial change reducing the precarity of Blackness within historically white cultural apparatuses and facilitating the production of Black blockbusters like 2018's Black Panther Canon entails a communal fannish practice of sharing media objects like the 1978 film The Wiz which lead them to take on meanings outside of their original context Comfort describes the nostalgic and sentimental affects associated with beloved fan objects such as the television show Golden Girls connected to notions of Black joy and signaling moments wherein Black people can just be themselves Through 75 in depth interviews with Black fans Fandom for Us by Us argues not only for the importance of studying Black fandoms but also demonstrates their complexities by both coupling and decoupling Black reception practices from the politics of representation Martin highlights the nuanced ways Black fans interact with media representations suggesting class clout canon and comfort are universal to the study of all fandoms Yet for all the ways these fandoms are similar and reciprocal Black fandoms are also their own set of practices demanding their own study
