If You Dont Like The Weather:

If You Don't Like the Weather Wait Five Minutes! Ines Christine Geisser, Kirsten Carina Geisser, 2012 If You Don't Like the Weather - Wait Fifteen Minutes AiPotu, Anders Kjellesvik, Andreas Siqueland, 2008 The ^ABurden of Sympathy David A. Karp, 2002-05-23 What are the limits of sympathy in dealing with another person's troubles? Where do we draw the line between caring for a loved one and being swallowed up emotionally by the obligation to do so? In this vivid and thoughtful study, David Karp chronicles the experiences of the friends and family members of the mentally ill and how they draw boundaries of sympathy to avoid being engulfed by the day-to-day suffering of a loved one. Working from sixty extensive interviews, the author reveals striking similarities in the experiences of caregivers: the feelings of shame, fear, guilt, and powerlessness in the face of a socially stigmatized illness; the frustration of navigating the complex network of bureaucracies that govern the mental health system; and most of all, the difficulty negotiating an appropriate level of involvement with the mentally ill loved one while maintaining enough distance for personal health. An insightful, deeply caring look at mental illness and at the larger picture of contemporary values, The Burden of Sympathy is required reading for caregivers of all kinds and for anyone seeking broader understanding of human responsibility in the postmodern world.

Fencing the Sky James Galvin, 2013-10-15 A cattleman flees the scene of an accidental murder in the most ambitious and original novel about the modern West to have appeared in some time. Kirkus Reviews: Stepping his horse through the lush beaver-worked draw looking for stray cows, Mike Arans never imagined that moments later he'd find himself swinging a nylon loop around Merriweather Snipes and pulling until his neck snapped. Once Snipes was dead, Mike fished a notepad and a stub of pencil from his pocket, wrote "I did this," signed his name, and stuffed the note into Snipes's breast pocket. Then Mike rode to his house, stocked up on supplies, and rode due west. Fencing the Sky is the story of how circumstances spiral out of control, the story of gross indifference and avarice in the face of breathtaking beauty. Ultimately, James Galvin's novel is a book about violence and how it destroys lives when the land is at stake. This long-awaited lyrical first novel is nothing less than the story of the disappearance of the American West. A unique and extraordinary book, a mixture of novel and natural history wherein Galvin reinvents the form, the true mark of a genuine artist. I can't recommend it too highly. Jim Harrison, author of Legends of the Fall.

Ramblings of a Mad Outlaw Batch G. Brennan, 2018-05-14 If you have ever asked questions like "What is reality? What do we actually know for sure? What is the truth? What is life other than just the name of a magazine that was published for many years?" then these ramblings will be of interest. These ramblings offer a unique personal view of human life that engages the reader in an eclectic mix of four diverse points of view. Using a stream-of-consciousness type style, the author draws on his reflection about his need for human connection, his passion for the creative arts including music, literature, and painting, his understanding of human physiology, mental health, philosophy, science, and Buddhist thinking, and his experiences with sailing, individual competitive sports, and coaching. The work is divided into two sections. The first simply leads the reader through a labyrinth of symbols facts and perceptions that led to an essential beginning and end where all is one and one is all The second section offers some strategies for developing self awareness and experiencing life differently The object of the exercise of reading thinking reflecting and possibly making notes to become more connected by being disconnected by being the same but different and by fitting by not fitting
