Connecting Content and Academic Language for English Learners and Struggling Students, Grades 2-6 Ruth Swinney, Patricia Velasco, 2011-05-11 In this supremely practical book award winning principal Ruth Swinney and college professor Patricia Velasco focus on the careful planning needed to develop the academic language of all students For English learners especially it is critically important to integrate language development with the content that the curriculum demands. What makes this book unlike any other is the detailed guidance it provides to help students advance from social to academic language, encourage verbal expression in the classroom, plan language arts, social studies, and science lessons that connect language and content, and use shared reading and writing, read alouds, and conversation to teach language skills. Hands-on tools include graphic organizers, sample lesson plans, concept maps, semantic webbing, word walls, and worksheets, and everything teachers need to help emergent bilingual and struggling students master the academic language they need to excel in school.

Teaching and Learning History in Elementary Schools Jere E. Brophy, Bruce VanSledright, 1997-01-01 In clear concise language this book deals with fundamental issues that must be addressed if teachers are to construct coherent and powerful history curricula including What are the purposes and goals that different types of teachers establish for their history teaching and What do children know and think about history and what are the teaching implications for our schools. This book represents a major advance in developing a knowledge base about children's historical learning and thinking that applies to history teaching, some of the principles involved in teaching for understanding, and conceptual change teaching methods that have been so successful in other school subjects.
