

IH INTERNATIONAL 3414 DOZER TRACTOR

Differential Lock is standard equipment. It locks rear drive wheel shafts together . . . helps get 3414 through sloppy footing that would stop ordinary tractors.

43.5 hp gas or diesel with a choice of transmission to meet your exact job requirements.

You get far greater strength and production capacity in an International 3414 Dozer Tractor than you do with a more lightly-built, "utility" tractor with a blade "attachment." The integral frame and push arms completely protect the power unit and drive train, absorbing dozing shocks and strains that normally would be transferred to the engine or clutch housing of the power unit.

This heavy-duty design makes the 3414 an efficient machine for grading, leveling, dozing and snow plowing. It can be manually angled, left or right, for windrowing material to the side. It can also be manually tilted for such jobs as ditching, root grubbing, etc. Both tilt and angle are accomplished easily without the use of tools. Operator has an unobstructed view of the blade.

The thick steel moldboard is reinforced, top and bottom, by heavy steel angles. Rolled top and welded-on side plates add to blade strength. The cutting edge is reversible and replaceable.
