What is the essential first step in determining the possible causes of addiction for the person and the most appropriate treatment modality for his and her needs? -

✓✓ Assessment

A client tells a counselor that she is unhappy with the way her treatment is progressing. The counselor should: - ✓✓ discuss these concerns with the client and make necessary changes in treatment goals.

A common error that counselors make when conducting an assessment is: - ✓✓ Moving to quickly from data collection to treatment planning.

A female client reports that she has some concerns about the relationship between her husband and her 14-year-old daughter from a previous marriage. She reports that her husband and daughter frequently argue, that her daughter refuses to take direction from stepfather, mid that her daughter regularly complains about her stepfathers "faults" and describes how her biological Father is better. The MOST relevant professional to whom a referral should be made is a: - ✓✓ Marriage and family therapist

A key factor for counselors to consider is that in a counseling relationship, the club has differential power. One of the best safeguards is: - ✓✓ to be alert to and understand the power of relationship.

A pretreatment period is frequently the result of waiting lists or client reluctance to become fully engaged in primary treatment. what might be a danger of this pretreatment period? - ✓✓ Clients may lose interest in treatment

According to Marlatt's model of the relapse process, which of the following statements is not true?

- clients should be taught skills for anticipating, avoiding, and coping with their personal high-risk situations
- clients should be taught constructive responses to cope with lapses when they do occur
- clients should be helped to recognize that one or more temporary lapses are likely to occur and are permitted.
- any positive expectations that clients have about drug use should be countered with reminders about the lows that follow the highs and about the long term negative consequences of substance abuse. - ✓✓ clients should be helped to recognize that one or more temporary lapses are likely to occur and are permitted.

According to the DSM-4, all of the following are criteria for psychoactive substance dependence Except:

- substance often on larger amounts than the person intended
