Anne Frank Silent Witnesses Ronald Wilfred Jansen, 2014 Ronald Wilfred Jansen visited Anne Frank's home addresses in Frankfurt am Main, Aachen and Amsterdam, her hiding place, the Secret Annex and the Westerbork, Auschwitz, Birkenau and Bergen-Belsen concentration camps where Anne Frank was imprisoned. His book describes her history and the objects that today still remind us of the environment in which she lived. His motivation for writing this book is that it was one of the last opportunities he would have to contact the people who knew Anne; these people revealed some new facts about her and her world. Other contemporaries of Anne Frank also contributed fascinating information about her surroundings. By tracing her footsteps, he gained a more complete picture of Anne Frank and her environment. My Name is Anne, She Said, Anne

Frank Jacqueline van Maarsen, 2007 A touching and intimate autobiography, this account recalls the author's remarkable childhood friendship with Anne Frank while attending a special school for Jewish children in Amsterdam during the late 1930s. With the story of her initial meeting and bonding with Anne Frank, Jacqueline van Maarsen's memoir recollects her family's near escape from the Netherlands only months after the Frank family went into hiding or moved to Switzerland, as van Maarsen was led to believe and provides a revealing look into life under Nazi occupation. Written by a one-time friend who only discovered the truth about Anne's fate after the war ended, this memoir is a moving firsthand recollection of a youthful friendship in the foreboding days of World War II. Anne Frank Ronald Wilfred Jansen, 2009 Ik heet Anne, zei ze, Anne Frank Jacqueline van Maarsen, 2003 Memoirs of a Dutch Jew born in 1929 whose French mother had converted to Judaism upon her marriage. The family lived in Amsterdam from 1928. After the Nazi occupation, van Maarsen was required to attend the Jewish Lyceum where she met Anne Frank and became her best friend. On 6 June 1942, Anne and her family disappeared, supposedly having emigrated to Switzerland. Van Maarsen learned the truth only after the war when she met Anne's father. Regarding the van Maarsens, her mother succeeded in persuading the authorities to cancel her conversion, thus making her daughters non-Jews. The family survived the war in the Netherlands, but her father lost his entire side of the family. We All Wore Stars Theo Coster, 2011-10-18 A wonderful chance for readers to learn more about Anne Frank as well as to meet other children who survived Jewish Book World. In 1941, Theo Coster was a student at the Amsterdam Jewish Lyceum, one in a class of twenty-eight children segregated by the Nazis from the rest of the Dutch gentile population. Among his fellow students was Anne Frank, whose diary would later become one of the most important documents of the Holocaust. In this moving group portrait, Coster and his fellow classmates remember the girl they knew and share their own remarkable stories. Their accounts offer rich and often surprising insights about Anne. She is remembered at various times as both vain and compassionate, generous and rebellious, by turns an ordinary child and a precocious girl seemingly destined for greatness. Taken together, they reveal the vitality, resilience, and complex humanity of children living through one of the darkest chapters in history. A marvelous book which beautifully compliments Anne Frank's diary. A must-read for anyone interested in
