Instruction Manual & Code Charts
for the R5/SRS scan and reset tool for BMW Airbag (SRS) System

Important: Read Entire Manual !!

- † Never perform SRS system repairs without proper training.
- † Never reset the SRS light without knowing the cause of the code
- † Disconnect main car battery before servicing the SRS system.
- † Never service the SRS system or use the R5/srs while a person is in the vehicle.
- † Keep your head and body at least 24 inches from any airbag while working on SRS system or while using the R5/srs.
- † Owning the R5/srs device does not qualify you to perform replacement of deployed Airbag or components. New and replacement SRS component installations must be performed by BMW-trained technicians at a properly equipped facility.

IMPORTANT: DISCLAIMER:

Thank you for purchasing the R5/srs scan/reset tool for BMW's. This product was designed to provide a long service life and ease of use at a low cost. In designing this product we spent a great length to ensure compatibility and safe operation with BMW's built from 1984 to 2010. As with any software based device, there is a possibility that a small number of SRS controller variants may not be compatible with this device. Peake Research Corp may not be held liable for any problems resulting from incompatibilities or the use or misuse of the product. Additionally, the code definitions contained in this manual should be regarded as a starting point for diagnosing a problem - the codes your BMW generates can often be misleading, and there may be errors in our code definitions. Before spending your money on a repair, make sure you have a clear understanding of the problem by using additional sources of information, such as a good quality repair manual, expert advice, the Internet, etc. Peake Research Corporation may not be held liable for any responses you choose to respond to the codes or instructions contained in this manual.

IMPORTANT: READ BEFORE PROCEEDING

WARNING: The Airbag is literally an explosive device. Handling or installing of airbag components (modules, wiring, charges, sensors) without proper training, equipment and safeguards can be extremely dangerous. Tampering with or mishandling of SRS components can result in unintended airbag deployment or failure to provide protection during an accident.

WARNING: NEVER PERFORM SRS SYSTEM REPAIRS ON YOUR OWN CAR. Only way does the ownership and use of the R5/srs qualify you or enable you to repair a damaged or deployed SRS system. All repairs relating to your SRS system must be performed by properly trained technicians at a properly equipped facility. The R5/srs scan and reset tool allows you to diagnose why the SRS light came on, and allows you to reset the SRS light. But, due to the complex nature of the SRS system and the obvious dangers inherent in things that explode, we strongly recommend that all repairs relating to your BMW's SRS system be left to trained "dealership" professionals.

Do-it-yourself, non-repair, procedures:

Often the SRS warning light is triggered for minor reasons that do not require a repair, in other words, nothing is broken. For example: installing a racing seat for a race weekend; accidentally disconnecting SRS components while installing a stereo/stam; a fuse is pulled for an SRS component while troubleshooting a problem unrelated to the SRS system. The solution to these problems is often simple and obvious; use the R5/srs to diagnose and confirm the condition, plug in whatever was unplugged, and then use the R5/srs to reset the SRS warning indicator then re-check for codes. Anything more than that, or if the fault returns or persists, Contact a BMW dealer.

Other information sources:

No matter how much we would like to, we at Peake Research Corporation are not able to give repair advice. Though we know of no book written specifically for the SRS system, we highly recommend the following manual sources for further reading.
