A High-Rate Virtual Instrument of Marine Vehicle Motions for Underwater Navigation and Ocean Remote Sensing Chrystel Gelin, 2012-08-22. Dead Reckoning aided with Doppler velocity measurement has been the most common method for underwater navigation for small vehicles. Unfortunately, DR requires frequent position recalibrations and underwater vehicle navigation systems are limited to periodic position update when they surface. Finally, standard Global Positioning System (GPS) receivers are unable to provide the rate or precision required when used on a small vessel. To overcome this, a low-cost high-rate motion measurement system for an Unmanned Surface Vehicle (USV) with underwater and oceanographic purposes is proposed. The proposed onboard system for the USV consists of an Inertial Measurement Unit (IMU) with accelerometers and rate gyros, a GPS receiver, a flux gate compass, a roll and tilt sensor, and an ADCP. Interfacing all the sensors proved rather challenging because of their different characteristics. The proposed data fusion technique integrates the sensors and develops an embeddable software package using real-time data fusion methods for a USV to aid in navigation and control as well as controlling an onboard Acoustic Doppler Current Profiler (ADCP). While ADCPs non-intrusively measure water flow, the vessel motion needs to be removed to analyze the data and the system developed provides the motion measurements and processing to accomplish this task.

Handbook of Ambient Intelligence and Smart Environments Hideyuki Nakashima, Hamid Aghajan, Juan Carlos Augusto, 2009-10-01. Our homes anticipate when we want to wake up. Our computers predict what music we want to buy. Our cars adapt to the way we drive. In today's world, even washing machines, rice cookers, and toys have the capability of autonomous decision making. As we grow accustomed to computing power embedded in our surroundings, it becomes clear that these smart environments, with a number of devices controlled by a coordinating system capable of ambient intelligence, will play an ever larger role in our lives. This handbook provides readers with comprehensive up-to-date coverage in what is a key technological field Systematically dealing with each aspect of ambient intelligence and smart environments the text covers everything from visual information capture and human computer interaction to multi agent systems network use of sensor data and building more rationality into artificial systems The book also details a wide range of applications examines case studies of recent major projects from around the world and analyzes both the likely impact of the technology on our lives and its ethical implications With a wide variety of separate disciplines all conducting research relevant to this field this handbook encourages collaboration between disparate researchers by setting out the fundamental concepts from each area that are relevant to ambient intelligence and smart environments providing a fertile soil in which ground breaking new work can develop
