Public Service Reform in East Asia Anthony Cheung,2005 Public service reform or public sector reform has been a hot topic among political scientists in recent years as most existing government structures are inadequate to cope with the ever changing environments of globalism in terms of capital and technology This is particularly true among Asian countries where the traditional bureaucracy has been strong as compared to a relatively weak sense of community Traditional relations between government the business sector and labour which slowly have taken shape in the last two decades are now once again challenged through de colonialization in Hong Kong democratization in Korea decentralization in Singapore and technological innovation in Japan This timely collection addresses a variety of selected reform issues confronted by these four developed Asian economies The areas of reform covered range from human resource management financial management and pay reform to central agency role service improvements private sector involvement and political accountability

Henderson, O. Dwivedi, Timothy M. Shaw, 1999-06-03 This volume seeks to explore bureaucratic forms of administration in the Third World and alternatives to them Experts with wide experience in development are assembled to deal with issues of reform indigenization and desirable futures Regional Community Building in East Asia Lee Lai To, Zarina Othman, 2016-09-01 This volume is a collection of papers written by nationals or former nationals of the respective country in ASEAN and Northeast Asia Unlike other works written by scholars outside ASEAN or East Asia it offers an insider's point of view of the 10 ASEAN states China Japan and South Korea on regional community building While a nationalist perspective may permeate throughout the study it is also clear that pursuing regional cooperation is considered to be important by the respective author denoting the non exclusivity between nationalism and regionalism and the mutual reinforcement of the two Each author of this volume has made a deliberate effort to introduce and survey the developmental challenges and experiences of his or her country from a historical perspective All authors without exception have emphasized the importance and advantages in staying with ASEAN or linking up with ASEAN by China Japan and South Korea in political security economic and socio cultural terms Their papers also reveal that the self help and self strengthening mechanism emphasized by the ASEAN Plus Three process will take time to bear fruits In the meantime it seems that bilateral interactions and cooperation between ASEAN and Northeast Asian states remain to be more dominant as shown in this study One can argue that bilateral interactions are the building block of multilateralism interactions To be sure there is a deliberate effort in this study to highlight unity in diversity in East Asia in general and ASEAN in particular The SAGE Handbook of Public Administration B Guy Peters, Jon Pierre, 2012-08-16 The original Handbook of Public Administration was a landmark publication the first to provide a comprehensive and authoritative survey of the discipline The eagerly awaited new edition of this seminal international handbook continues to provide a complete review and guide to past and present knowledge in this essential field of inquiry Assembling an outstanding team of scholars from around the world the second edition explores the current state of the art in academic thinking and the current structures and processes for the administration of public policy The second edition has been fully revised and updated with new chapters that reflect emerging issues and changes within the public sector Identifying the Antecedents in Public Performance Bureaucratic Politics Strategy Structure and Policy Dynamics Comparative Administrative Reform Administrative Ethics Accountability through Market and Social Instruments Federalism and intergovernmental coordination A dominant theme throughout the handbook is a critical reflection on the utility of scholarly theory and the extent to which government practices inform the development of this theory To this end it serves as an essential guide for both the practice of public administration today and its on going development as an academic discipline The SAGE Handbook of Public Administration remains indispensable to the teaching study and practice of public administration for students academics and professionals everywhere Sharpening the Sword of State Andrew Podger, John Wanna, 2016-11-11 Sharpening the Sword of State explores the various ways in which 10 jurisdictions in the Asia Pacific enhance their administrative capabilities through training and executive development It traces how modern governments across this region look to develop their public services and public sector organisations in the face of rapid global change For many governments there is a delicate balance between the public interest in promoting change and capacity enhancement across the public service and the temptation to micro manage agencies and be complacent about challenging the status quo There is a recognition in the countries studied that training and executive development is a crucial investment in human capital but is also couched in a much wider context of public service recruitment patterns of entry and retention promotion executive appointment and career development This empirical volume authored by academics and practitioners is one of the first to chart these comparative differences and provide fresh perspectives to enable learning from international experiences

North Korean Reform Robert L. Carlin, Joel Wit, 2013-03-07 In the past foreign policy and security concerns have trumped any efforts to reform the North Korean economy Today the linkage between security and economic policies is being reconsidered as part of a larger debate in the North Korean leadership that has already transformed the country in fundamental ways Despite renewed tensions with the United States North Korea has begun to implement important economic reforms Moreover underneath the cover of the ever present military first slogan in the controlled media a debate is taking place between reformers and conservatives over whether Pyongyang s bloated military industrial complex should be scaled back to help ensure the success of economic reform Not only do these developments reflect strong political forces in the North Korean leadership that support reform but they could also have profound implications for the future of Pyongyang s national security policy North Korea may decide that it will need a more favourable external security environment in order to secure greater access to international economic and financial assistance for its reform measures and ultimately downsizing its military Pyongyang could launch a new policy of engagement that would include greater flexibility in the Beijing Six Party Talks A second scenario is continued internal struggle over reform that could lead to an inability to act decisively on key security and foreign policy issues including at the nuclear talks Finally progress in reform may paradoxically strengthen conservatives leading to hopes in Pyongyang that it can improve the economy while simultaneously maintaining a large powerful military Whether Washington can do anything at this point to influence directly the emerging debate in Pyongyang is unclear but a renewed policy of engagement on its part could enhance the chances of success for North Korean advocates of reform Корея. KoreaMeow 38 The White House and the Blue House Yong Hyo Cho, George H. Frederickson, 1997-10-16 The White House and the Blue House is an in depth consideration of patterns of change in government in the United States and Korea It is the first such detailed study and comparison between the two countries The book is organized into three parts with two chapters on the United States and two chapters on Korea in each part Part One deals with the politics and organization of administrative reform Part Two deals with the processes and procedures of administrative reform and Part Three deals with reform politics deregulation and money Each chapter is a consideration of a particular aspect of reform in either the United States or Korea rather than an attempt to compare the two Building Trust in Government G. Shabbir Cheema, Vesselin Popovski, 2010 The ability of governments and the global community to achieve the Millennium Development Goals ensure security and promote adherence to basic standards of human rights depends on people s trust in their government However public trust in government and political institutions has been declining in both developing and developed countries in the new millennium One of the challenges in promoting trust in government is to engage citizens especially the marginalized groups and the poor into the policy process to ensure that governance is truly representative participatory and benefits all Far Eastern Affairs, 2005
