Transitional Justice in Peacebuilding Djejhoun Ostowar, 2020-11-22 This book explores the role of actors in determining transitional justice in peacebuilding contexts In recent decades transitional justice mechanisms and processes have been introduced to a variety of settings becoming widely regarded as essential elements in the peacebuilding toolbox While it has increasingly been suggested that transitional justice is imposed by neo imperial actors with little regard for the needs and cultures of local populations evidence suggests that dismissing these policies as neo imperial or neo liberal impositions would result in grossly overlooking their dynamics which involve a whole range of relevant actors operating at multiple levels This book interrogates this theme through empirical analysis of three sites of peacebuilding that have seen extensive international involvement Kosovo East Timor and Afghanistan It proposes a novel framework for analysing and approaching transitional justice in peacebuilding that disaggregates three broad sets of actors operating at different levels in relevant processes external actors international and regional levels transitional justice promoters local national international and transnational levels and transitional regimes national and local levels The book argues that transitional justice in peacebuilding must be conceived of as actor contingent and malleable due to the significance of agency and inter actions of key categories of actors throughout peacebuilding transition This book will be of interest to students and practitioners of transitional justice peacebuilding law and International Relations

The International Element, Statehood and Democratic Nation-building Dren

Doli,2019-02-19 This book represents a unique endeavor to elucidate the story of Kosovo's unilateral quest for statehood. It is an inquiry into the international legal aspects and processes that shaped and surrounded the creation of the state of Kosovo. Being created outside the post colonial context, Kosovo offers a unique yet controversial example of state emergence both in the theory and practice of creation of states. Accordingly, the book investigates the legal pathways, strategies, developments and policy positions of international agencies, actors and regional players, in particular the EU that helped Kosovo to establish its independence and gradually acquire statehood. Although contested, Kosovo and its quest for statehood represents a unique example of successful unilateral secession. The book therefore explores and analyses patterns of state formation and nation building in Kosovo and its transition to democracy. It presents a three level assessment. First, seen from a historical perspective, the book examines the validity of the right of Kosovar Albanians to self determination and remedial secession. Second, from a legal positivist perspective, it scrutinizes all of the legalist arguments that support Kosovo's right to statehood and claims that both traditional and legality based criteria for statehood remain insufficient to determine whether Kosovo has achieved statehood. Third, from a post factum perspective, the book analyzes the scope and extent to which the internationally blended element was decisive in Kosovo's state formation and state building processes. It explains how the EU's involvement as an internationally blended element in Kosovo's efforts to achieve statehood was instrumental and played a crucial role in shaping the emerging state. In particular, the book elaborates on how the EU was able to streamline its mode of intervention in the context of state building and reform.

Eurovision: Identity and the International Politics of the Eurovision Song Contest since 1956

Julie Kalman, Ben Wellings, Keshia Jacotine, 2019-11-19 This book uses the Eurovision Song Contest ESC as an analytical entry point to understand and illuminate post War Europe and the drive to create an identity that can legitimise the European project in its broadest sense. The ESC presents an idealised vision of Europe and this has long existed in a strained relationship with reality. While the trajectory of post war European integration is a high profile topic, we believe that the ESC offers a unique and innovative way to think about the role of culture in the history of post War European integration and tensions between the ideal and reality of European unity. Through the series of case studies that make up the chapters in this book, analysis brings these interlinked tensions to light, exploring the roles of culture and identity alongside and a productive conversation with the political and economic projects of post war European integration.

From Peoples Into Nations John Connelly, 2022-01-25 This book is a history of East Central Europe since the late eighteenth century, the region of Europe between German central Europe and Russia in the East. Connelly argues the region for which it is frequently hard to define exact boundaries and which is sometimes treated country by country in a way seemingly separate from the broader trends of European history, was one of shared experience despite most of the peoples being divided by linguistic, geographic and political barriers. Beginning in the 1780s, an unwitting Habsburg monarch, Joseph II, decreed that his subjects would use only German as he hoped to mold a common nationality using German over the disparate subjects Instead he unleashed the energies and struggle for the emergence of new nations that pitted small peoples armed with an idea against empires The author argues that the underlying national self assertion which emerged under imperial rule in the eighteen and nineteenth centuries shows deep connections to subsequent histories to the creation of nation states of the regions after World War I the failure of democratic rule in these states during the interwar years the submersion of the region under Nazi then Soviet rule after 1939 and to the reinvention of sovereign states and then the break up of two of them after 1989 The book interconnects major themes and country histories for first time chronicling this diverse region over many generations from the time of Joseph through democratic and socialist revolutions genocide and Stalinism through civil society movements struggling for liberal democracy into our own day when illiberal politicians come to power by exploiting very old fears      Peoples and International Law James Summers,2014-04-09

Peoples and International Law is a detailed survey of the law of self determination with a focus on the concept of nations and peoples It engages with different aspects of this law with particular emphasis on the drafting and implementation of international instruments The second edition includes new coverage of the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the African and Arab charters It considers recent practice by the Human Rights Committee Committee on Economic Social and Cultural Rights and African Commission on Human and Peoples Rights dealing with the emerging political economic and environmental aspects of the right The book looks at the interaction of international law nationalism and liberalism in theories of nationhood and self determination as well as the historical development of the right and the decisions of international bodies Lastly it examines practice in this area including new developments in remedial independence and international territorial administration Also available in hardback      Prosecuting War Crimes James Gow,Rachel

Kerr,Zoran Pajic,2013-09-23 This volume examines the legacy of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia ICTY which was created under Chapter VII of the UN Charter as a mechanism explicitly aimed at the restoration and maintenance of international peace and security As the ICTY has now entered its twentieth year this volume reflects on the record and practices of the Tribunal Since it was established it has had enormous impact on the procedural jurisprudential and institutional development of international criminal law as well as the international criminal justice project This will be its international legacy but its legacy in the region where the crimes under its jurisdiction took place is less clear research has shown that reactions to the ICTY have been mixed among the communities most affected by its work Bringing together a range of key thinkers in the field Prosecuting War Crimes explores these findings and discusses why many feel that the ICTY has failed to fully engage with people s experiences and meet their expectations This book will be of much interest to students of war crimes international criminal law Central and East European politics human rights and peace and conflict studies      Secessionism and Separatism in Europe and Asia Jean-Pierre Cabestan,Aleksandar Pavković,2013-01-03 encompasses that of separatism and vice versa Recognising this inherent relationship this book provides a comparative survey of recent attempts at secession and separatist movements from across Europe and Asia and assesses the responses of the respective host governments The essays address two main questions which arise from the relationship between state governments and secessionist movements first how secessionist or separatist movements gather support and mobilize their target populations and second how central political authorities respond to the challenges that secessionist or separatist movements pose to their capacity to control the country With political analysis of recent cases ranging from the Balkans the USSR the UK and the Basque Country to Sri Lanka Burma China Tibet and Taiwan the authors identify both similarities and differences in the processes and outcomes of secessionist and separatist movements across the two distinct regions This volume will be an invaluable resource for those who wish to understand the dynamics of secessionist movements and as such will appeal to students and scholars of Asian and European politics comparative politics international relations and conflict studies It will also be helpful to practitioners and policy makers who wish to understand and contribute to the resolution of such conflicts

Self-Determination and Secession in International Law Christian Walter, Antje von Ungern-Sternberg, Kavus Abushov, 2014-06-05 Peoples and minorities in many parts of the world assert a right to self determination autonomy and even secession from a state which naturally conflicts with that state's sovereignty and territorial integrity The right of a people to self determination and secession has existed as a concept within international law since the American Declaration of Independence in 1776 but the exact definition of these concepts and the conditions required for their application remain unclear The Advisory Opinion of the International Court of Justice concerning the Declaration of Independency of Kosovo 2010 which held that the Kosovo declaration of independence was not in violation of international law has only led to further questions This book takes four conflicts in the post Soviet Commonwealth of Independent States CIS as a starting point for examining the current state of the law of self determination and secession Four entities Transnistria Moldova South Ossetia Abkhazia both Georgia and Nagorno Karabakh Azerbaijan claim to be entitled not only to self determination but also to secession from their mother state For this entitlement they rely on historic affiliations and on charges of discrimination and massive human rights violations committed by their mother state This book sets out its analysis of these critical issue in three parts providing a detailed understanding of the principles of international law on which they rely The first part sets out the contours and meaning of self determination and secession including an overall assessment of secession within the Commonwealth of Independent States The second section provides case studies investigating the events in Transnistria South Ossetia Abkhazia and Nagorno Karabach in greater detail The third and final section extends the scope of the examination providing a comparative analysis of similar conflicts involving questions of self determination and secession in Kosovo Western Sahara and Eritrea

Europeanisation and Memory Politics in the Western Balkans Ana Milošević, Tamara Trošt, 2020-10-15 This volume explores how the process of European integration has influenced collective memory in the countries of the Western Balkans In the region there is still no shared understanding of the causes and consequences of the Yugoslav wars The conflicts of the 1990s but also of WWII and its aftermath have created ethnically confined memory cultures As such divergent interpretations of history continue to trigger confrontations between neighboring countries and hinder the creation of a joint EU perspective In this volume the authors examine how these memory wars impact the European dimension by becoming a tool to either support or oppose Europeanisation The contributors focus on how and why memory is renegotiated exhibited adjusted or ignored in the Europeanisation process

Contesting Peace in the Postwar City Ivan Gusic, 2019-12-03 Contesting Peace in the Postwar City is key reading for urban and peace and conflict scholars In this impressive and meticulously researched book Gusic reflects on the ways in which divisions are routinised in the everyday landscape of divided cities and skilfully investigates how change and continuity are governed in postwar urban spaces The book provides rich empirical material from the cities of Mostar Mitrovica and Belfast drawing on nuanced fieldwork insights Stefanie Kappler Durham University UK Ivan Gusic sets out a powerful theoretically critical and empirically rich account of the trajectories of cities after war The strength of the work is that it brings an understanding of the urban condition into relation with ethno national conflict and the survival of violence Gusic unsettles dominant narratives in peace studies by offering a grounded evaluation of three cities coming out of violence and points to the importance of place in peacebuilding processes Brendan Murtagh Queen s University Belfast UK Detailed case studies of Belfast Mitrovica and Mostar show how cities are often engines of what Ivan Gusic calls war in peace This on trend study combines the latest research from critical urban studies with peace and conflict studies to produce a very accessible and internationally relevant book It is highly recommended Roger Mac Ginty Durham University UK This book explores why the postwar city reinforces rather than transcends its continuities of war in peace It theorises war to peace transitions as conflicts over how to socio politically order society and then analyses different urban conflicts over peace s in postwar Belfast Northern Ireland Mitrovica Kosovo and Mostar Bosnia Herzegovina Focusing on themes such as educational segregation clientelism fear paramilitaries and infrastructure it shows how conflict lines from war are perpetuated in and by the postwar city Yet it also discovers instances where antagonisms are bridged by utilising the postwar city s transcending potential While written in the nexus between peace research and urban studies this book also speaks to political geography

Anthems and the Making of Nation States Aleksandar Pavkovic, Christopher Kelen, 2015-10-28 Anthems are symbolic means through which nations present themselves to the world Accordingly creating seven new nation states out of the bones of Yugoslavia required new anthems Why did these new states opt for century old national songs or failing this for the anthems without words What are the images and symbols that each of these states chose as their national signatures and how were these chosen This book explores a variety of images of nationhood or the absence of them in the lyrics of the official anthems and of competing national songs and traces their historical trajectory from the time of their conception to their legal entrenchment This is the first full length study into the symbolic representations of nationhood in the recently created nation states of the Balkans
