Literary Transactions in South Africa Michael Chapman, 2025-04-03 A representative overview of some of the most pressing concerns in contemporary literary criticism in South Africa demonstrating literary form s shaping power in the interpretation of politically contentious content Rather than pressing literature into the service of a political cause or programme this study s purpose its politics of interpretation is to open literature to the potential of human experience in both the personal and the public life The society of focus South Africa is a society of political contestation Instead of prioritizing the what of contestation however Michael Chapman explores contestation through the how of the literary work In sharp transactions between an intransitivity of form and a compulsion to communicate the book elucidates an ethics of aesthetics in J M Coetzee and Nadine Gordimer and the best of modernism and the worst of modernism in Roy Campbell s poetry It also asks Can Themba s style of the shebeens in the 1950s be re visited in a contemporary context of gender based abuse Why or how are Ellen Kuzwayo and Mtutuzeli Matshoba writing in the struggle years of the 1970s simultaneously less than artists and more than artists Has the interpretative frame of the postcolonial best served fiction after apartheid What language of interpretation best releases the voices of contemporary women s poetry a poetry which in its play on identities and identifications looks both inwards to its locality and outwards to the globe Alert to both South Africa s colonial past and its assertions of today Literary Transactions in South Africa pursues the challenge of interpreting a literature of disjuncture between Africa and the West or the South and the North

Gender, Transitional Justice and Memorial Arts Jelke Boesten, Helen Scanlon, 2021-05-17 This book examines the role of post conflict memorial arts in bringing about gender justice in transitional societies Art and post violence memorialisation are currently widely debated Scholars of human rights and of commemorative arts discuss the aesthetics and politics not only of sites of commemoration

but of literature poetry visual arts and increasingly film and comics Art memory and activism are also increasingly intertwined But within the literature around post conflict transitional justice and critical human rights studies there is little questioning about what memorial arts do for gender justice how women and men are included and represented and how this intertwines with other questions of identity and representation such as race and ethnicity The book brings together research from scholars around the world who are interested in the gendered dimensions of memory making in transitional societies Addressing a global range of cases including genocide authoritarianism civil war electoral violence and apartheid they consider not only the gendered commemoration of past violence but also the possibility of producing counter narratives that unsettle and challenge established stereotypes Aimed at those interested in the fields of transitional justice memory studies post conflict peacebuilding human rights and gender studies this book will appeal to academics researchers and practitioners
