Hydrogeologic Framework And Estimates Of Groundwater Storage For Hualapai Valley:

Hydrogeologic Framework and Estimates of Groundwater Storage for Hualapai Valley Margot Truini, L. Sue Beard, Jeffrey Kennedy, 2014-08-01 We have investigated the hydrogeology of the Hualapai Valley Detrital Valley and Sacramento Valley basins of Mohave County in northwestern Arizona to develop a better understanding of groundwater storage within the basin fill aquifers. In our investigation we used geologic maps, well log data, and geophysical surveys to delineate the sedimentary textures and lithology of the basin fill. We used gravity data to construct a basin geometry model that defines smaller subbasins within the larger basins and airborne transient electromagnetic modeled results along with well log lithology data to infer the subsurface distribution of basin fill within the subbasins. Hydrogeologic units (HGU) are delineated within the subbasins on the basis of the inferred lithology of saturated basin fill. We used the extent and size of HGUs to estimate groundwater storage to depths of 400 meters (1,312 feet) below land surface. Hydrogeologic framework and estimates of groundwater storage for the Hualapai Valley, Detrital Valley, and Sacramento Valley basins, Mohave County, Arizona Margot Truini, 2013
