

SPECIAL FEATURES

DEFROST OPERATION

If the ambient temperature of the room in which the dehumidifier is conditioning, falls below 15°C ice will form on the evaporator coil as the air passes over it. Over a period of time this build up of ice will effect the efficiency of the dehumidifier on it's ability to maintain the required set conditions within the room.

The BD150 is therefore fitted with a defrost control device. This defrost control device is timed to operate every 42 minutes for a period of 4 minutes.

During the defrost cycle the high pressure hot gas from the compressor is diverted into the evaporator coil where it melts the ice which has formed on the evaporator coil.

DUAL VOLTAGE MODELS

The BD150 dehumidifier unit is fitted with a transformer which will allow the unit to operate on either 110volts or 230volts 1ph 50Hz power supply. All electrical components within the dehumidifier are rated for 110volts, for safety reasons. The rotary switch allows for the selection of the required voltage prior to starting the unit.

VOLTAGE PROTECTION DEVICE

The dual voltage BD150 dehumidifier unit is fitted as standard with a unique voltage selection protection device.

Should the unit be connected to a 115volts supply and the rotary selector switch set inadvertently to 230 volts, the unit will not start. Similarly should the unit be connected to a 230 volts supply and the rotary selector switch set to 110 volts, the unit will not start.

This unit is fitted with a screw type in line fuse holder with a 10 amp anti fuse holder.

LOW VOLTAGE PROTECTION

For applications which require the unit to operate under fluctuating voltage supply conditions, the BD150 dehumidifier is also available fitted with a voltage monitor. This device ensures that the compressor does not "stall start" when the supply voltage is below 208 Volts (The minimum acceptable level). Three indicators fitted to the control panel indicate the status of the dehumidifier:-

- AMBER :- Power is available to the unit
- GREEN :- Unit is running
- RED :- The voltage is below the minimum required to start the unit.

Note :- The supply voltage must be above the minimum acceptable level for a period of 3 minutes before the unit will start.
