

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a tropical landscape. In the foreground, there is a dense thicket of green foliage. A single, thin tree trunk with several large, dark green, oval-shaped leaves stands out on the right side. In the background, there are rolling hills or mountains under a sky with soft, warm colors, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall tone is peaceful and scenic.

Hawaii In War And Peace A Memoir:

Hawaii in War and Peace Bill Fernandez, 2015-05-05 This second memoir by half Native Hawaiian author Bill Fernandez begins as he enters Kamehameha Schools in Honolulu a school for children of Hawaiian ancestry It is 1944 and the city is filled with thousands of military which leads to racial tensions with the locals minorities Hawaiians are not allowed on the Waikiki beaches or inside the hotels The military discipline of the school surprises Bill who led a carefree life on Kauai Shoes hurt his feet the uniform itches Bill learns a lot about life as he explores the city When his family travels around the continental USA in 1947 he discovers the intense racism which makes him worry about his place in life His goal is to be a fisherman His parents have other ideas He enters Stanford University Hawai'i in War and Peace Bill Fernandez, 2016-11-21 When Bill is sent to Honolulu to attend Kamehameha Schools at age fourteen his peaceful days on Kaua i described in Kaua i Kids in Peace and War came to an end The airplane brought him to a confusing city in 1944 filled with soldiers and sailors and a school requiring military uniforms and discipline The shoes hurt his feet and the ROTC uniform scratches and his country bumpkin ways are derided On Kaua i the soldiers were friendly but in Honolulu the racism between the military and locals shocked him Newspapers teach him about world politics and locals talk about rap the haole After the war ended peace soon seemed remote when Berlin is blockaded by the Soviets Winston Churchill describes the Iron Curtain descending onto Europe and tsunamis strike In 1948 Bill s family drives around the continental United States where he witnesses racism against Jews Mexicans and African Americans making him feel insecure about his place in the world His parents urge him to attend Stanford University Despite increasing success as a student he is uncertain if college is for him His vivid description of a summer of fishing and hiking adventures makes him waiver between college or becoming a fisherman A sudden shock makes his decision for him The book ends as he enters Stanford University in 1949 and meets an Olympic gold medalist Bob Mathias The Japanese in War and Peace, 1942-48 Ian Nish, 2010-12-13 The author was a member of the British Occupation Force in Japan as part of the Allied Occupation following the Asia Pacific War During the years he was there 1946 48 he collected a number of documents which throw light on the attitudes of the Japanese people in the last two critical years of the war and the equally critical first two years of the peace Following the dropping of the atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki never has a nation been forced to switch so abruptly from the extreme views of resistance in early 1945 to the need for accommodation with the occupying United States armies These materials some reproduced in facsimile which include a miscellaneous assortment of personal documents propaganda material military memoranda and teaching aids cover a wide spectrum of Japanese thinking Since the writers are generally drawn from the lower rungs of society they provide an insight into the attitudes of citizens who are often neglected in accounts of the Allied Occupation thereby providing scholars researchers and those with a general interest in Occupation history with a valuable new dimension to our understanding of this period and its impact on the Japanese nation Hirohito: The Shōwa Emperor in War and Peace Ikuhiko Hata, 2007-07-12 This is a most important new work on Emperor Hirohito by one of Japan's leading historians Ikuhiko Hata Following the untimely death of Marius B Jansen Emeritus Professor University of Princeton in December 2000 who had been actively collaborating with the author and translator of the original Japanese edition Hirohito Tenno itsutsu no ketsudan first published in 1987 and republished in 1994 it was inevitable that there would be a delay in publication of the English edition which is finally now available In his extended Foreword as editor referring to the nature of Hirohito's power Jansen states We are left with puzzles that will probably never be resolved Clearly as Professor Hata and others have shown the Emperor Hirohito had immense power but the condition of retaining it was judicious restraint in exercising it In offering a view on the merits of Hata's research Jansen points to the hitherto unknown plots in parallel but unrelated by both the Army and Navy to preserve and if necessary resuscitate the imperial line in the event the victors decided to depose Hirohito Jansen also points to the merits of Hata's particular focus on the contribution Hirohito made to Japan in its post war relations with the United States Jansen added substantive notes to help place the author's material in historical and historiographical perspective The book which is not a biography or a general history of the Showa era focuses on five decisions taken by Emperor Hirohito which the author considers the key turning points of his reign these concern the 26 February 1936 insurrection of young army officers the termination of the Pacific War the post war constitution the issue of abdication and the San Francisco Peace Treaty

ISSUES ON WAR & PEACE Julie Kimber, Phillip Deery, Warwick Eather, Drew Cottle, Nic Maclelland, Jonathan Strauss, Michael Hamel-Green, Jeanette Debney-Joyce, Doris LeRoy, David Faber, 2015-02-15 These proceedings carry some of the papers delivered at the 14th Biennial Labour History Conference 11-13 February 2015 Titled Fighting Against War Peace Activism in the Twentieth Century the conference was held at the University of Melbourne A conference book of refereed papers has been published under that title and these proceedings carry the non refereed papers received for publication There is one exception to that rule the paper written by Warwick Eather and Drew Cottle published below which underwent double blind refereeing It is an important paper which demonstrates with compelling evidence that the rabbit was anything but a curse to the many men women and children who took advantage of the rabbit industry's resilience during the economic storms for much of the twentieth century It exemplifies how meticulous research in labour history can provide an entirely new understanding of an otherwise much maligned animal in Australia The next three papers all concern opposition to nuclear testing from the 1950s to the 1980s When read together they provide a convincing argument for the importance and efficacy of the diverse anti nuclear movements in Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands Whilst there are inevitable overlaps these papers emphasise different and often neglected dimensions the struggle for recognition of and compensation for the devastating effects of nuclear testing the internal dynamics of the various nuclear disarmament organisations and an evaluation of their impact on government policy culminating in the Rarotonga Treaty of 1985 The last three papers cover aspects of World War I the Cold War and the Vietnam War The first focuses on the role of one redoubtable woman Ettie Rout in challenging popular misconceptions about venereal disease held by military authorities and the soldiers themselves The next paper examines the life of a Czech Lutheran pastor Professor Josef Hrom dka who visited Australia twice during the 1950s Hrom dka attempted to juggle Christianity with Socialism which in the prevailing climate of strident anti communism provoked hostile receptions and Cold War invective The final paper in this collection brings to life through the reflections of a participant observer the preparations conduct and impact of Adelaide's largest anti war demonstration the protest against the invasion of Iraq in 2003 organised by the NoWar collective Its efforts undertaken by a broad range of rank and file activists is a fitting reminder and exemplar of the theme of our conference peace activism in the twentieth century
