

HAWAII EARLY LEARNING PROFILE (HELP) ACTIVITY GUIDE

Introduction

The Hawaii Early Learning Profile (HELP) is a comprehensive assessment tool used to evaluate the development of young children in Hawaii. It is designed to be used by early childhood educators and parents.

Key Features:
- Comprehensive assessment tool
- Used by early childhood educators and parents
- Designed to evaluate the development of young children in Hawaii

Developmental Domains and Indicators

The HELP assesses children's development across five domains: Communication, Cognitive, Physical, Social, and Emotional. Each domain is further divided into specific indicators that describe the skills and behaviors expected for children of a certain age.

How to Use the HELP

The HELP is used by observing and recording a child's behavior during natural interactions. It is not a formal test, but rather a tool for gathering information about a child's development. The results are used to identify areas of strength and areas where additional support may be needed.

How to Record and Report Results

Results are recorded on the HELP form, which is divided into sections for each domain. The form includes checkboxes for 'Present', 'Emerging', and 'Not Present'. The results are then reported to the parent or caregiver, who can use this information to support the child's development.

Interpreting the Results

The results of the HELP are interpreted in terms of developmental age. This means that the results are compared to the typical development of children of a certain age. The results can be used to identify areas of strength and areas where additional support may be needed.

Using the Results to Plan

The results of the HELP are used to plan individualized interventions for each child. This means that the results are used to identify the specific areas where a child needs additional support and to develop a plan to address these needs.

Conclusion

The HELP is a valuable tool for assessing the development of young children in Hawaii. It provides a comprehensive overview of a child's development and can be used to identify areas of strength and areas where additional support may be needed.

Appendix A: Sample Results

This appendix provides examples of how the results of the HELP are recorded and reported. It includes sample forms and reports that can be used as a guide.

Appendix B: Glossary

This appendix provides definitions for the terms used in the HELP. It includes definitions for the domains, indicators, and results.

Appendix C: Additional Resources

This appendix provides information about other resources that are available to early childhood educators and parents. It includes information about training, support, and materials.
