

meet its deliverable date unless it reduces the quality of the materials you've ordered. What should you do next?

Your Response:

Consult with your stakeholders to see if a change in quality is acceptable.

Good Choice! Before you make a trade-off that reduces quality, it is crucial to get buy in from stakeholders.

3. You work for a successful regional bank. You have been assigned to develop a new loyalty rewards program and integrate it throughout the bank. You need a reporting tool that will help each department monitor how its part of the product launch affects other departments—and how it is affected by other departments. Which scheduling tool would be the most appropriate?

Your Response:

Good Choice! The PERT chart shows all tasks in progress at a given time, with their dependencies, resources, costs, and risks. This tool is useful for assessing the impact of a change in one aspect of the work of a project.

4. The bank's new loyalty rewards program is being rolled out. You are gathering feedback on how the new program is being received by the bank's customers and employees about making the change. What is your best course of action to manage this situation?

Your Response:

Identify team responsibilities and address concerns or fears. Identifying the people who will be responsible for the new program and responsibilities of the entire team can help to address team members' concerns or fears.

5. When considering how to manage a change in a project, which of the following is the best way to manage the change?
