Identity Second Generation Children Immigrants:

Africans in Global Migration John A. Arthur, Joseph Takougang, Thomas Owusu, 2012-08-31 Four overarching themes underscore the essays in this book. These are the creation of African diaspora community and institutional structures, the structured and shared relationships among African immigrants, host and homeland societies, the construction and negotiation of diaspora spaces and domains, racial/ethnic class consciousness, including identity politics, and finally African migrant economic integration, occupational and labor force roles and statuses, and impact on host societies. Each of the thematic themes has been chosen with one specific goal in mind to depict and represent the critical components in the reconstitution of the African diaspora in international migration. We contextualized the themes in the African diaspora as a dynamic process involving what Paul Zeleza called the diasporization of African immigrant settlement communities in global transnational spaces. These themes also reflect the diversities inherent in the diaspora communities and call attention to the fluid and dynamic boundaries within which Africans create, diffuse, and engage host and home societies. In this context, the themes outlined in this book embody the diaspora tapestries woven by the immigrants to center African social and cultural forms in their host societies and communities. Collectively, the themes represent pathways for the elucidation of understanding African immigrant territorialization. Our purpose is to map out and identify the sources and sites for the contestations of the myriad of cultural manifestations of the new African diaspora and its depictions within the totality of the shared meanings and appropriations of the essences of African-ness or African blackness. The vulnerabilities, struggles, threats, internal or external to the immigrant community, and opportunities emanating from the diasporic relationships that these immigrants create are accentuated within the nexus of African global migrations. We view the African diaspora in terms of spatial and geographic constructions and propagations of African cultural identities and institutional forms in global domains whose boundaries are not static but rather dynamic, complex, and multidimensional. Simply stated, we approach the African diaspora from a perspective that incorporates the historical as well as contemporary postmodern constructions of the African's dispersed communities and their associated transnational identity forms.

Education, Equity and Inclusion Diane B. Hirshberg, Mhairi C. Beaton, Gregor Maxwell, Tuija Turunen, Janette Peltokorpi, 2023-01-01 This open access book provides a current view on education, equity, and inclusion within the lens of education for a sustainable North. The first book published by the University of the Arctic Thematic Network for Teacher Education for Social Justice and Diversity, including the North. A comparative study of the policies on inclusion and equity in the circumpolar North, 2019 highlighted policies of inclusion and equity in education in national and regional contexts. This new book explores in more depth the provision of education across the north, focusing on challenges and innovations in meeting the needs of diverse learners in remote and rapidly changing contexts. While many texts address issues of equity, inclusion, and diversity, they are almost all focused on the global South and miss the lessons that can be learned from Northern regions. This book offers an extended essay on teaching and learning through various perspectives and experiences with the aim of creating a more sustainable North It is structured around two main themes 1 Supporting Teachers for Diversity and Inclusion in the Classroom including consideration of language and identity issues 2 Engendering community solutions to structural and geographical challenges in education in the circumpolar north

Migrant Families and Religious Belonging Giovanni Giulio Valtolina, Laura Zanfrini, 2023-06-15 Over the past three decades migration has become the main driver of population growth or of preventing its decrease in many EU countries The presence of so many families with a migrant background is however to some extent an unexpected phenomenon arising from the permanent settlement of migrant guest workers expected to be temporary residents and from other unplanned processes such as decolonization and the influx of asylum seekers Moreover family reunification is today one of the main legal channels by which migrants come to Europe so it is no coincidence that the main issues animating European public debate on inter ethnic coexistence involve family religion and the relationships between genders and generations Finally the migrant family has to some extent become a lens through which to analyze many key topics connected with the present and future of European societies This work Migrant Families and Religious Belonging is a collection of nine essays exploring the relationship between family religion and immigration These essays mainly focus on the integration process with particular attention to the experience of migrants offspring The book consists of an introductory chapter and four thematic sections and topics covered include gender equality forced marriages child fostering care and religious radicalization The relationship between family religion and immigration provides a fascinating perspective to explore and shed light on European society today The book will be of interest to a wide range of academics researchers and practitioners

Black Mosaic Candis Watts Smith, 2019-07-30 Historically Black Americans have easily found common ground on political social and economic goals Yet there are signs of increasing variety of opinion among Blacks in the United States due in large part to the influx of Afro Latino Afro Caribbean and African immigrants to the United States In fact the very definition of African American as well as who can self identify as Black is becoming more ambiguous Should we expect African Americans shared sense of group identity and high sense of group consciousness to endure as ethnic diversity among the population increases In Black Mosaic Candis Watts Smith addresses the effects of this dynamic demographic change on Black identity and Black politics Smith explores the numerous ways in which the expanding and rapidly changing demographics of Black communities in the United States call into question the very foundations of political identity that has united African Americans for generations African Americans political attitudes and behaviors have evolved due to their historical experiences with American Politics and American racism Will Black newcomers recognize the inconsistencies between the American creed and American reality in the same way as those who have been in the U S for several generations If so how might this recognition influence Black immigrants political attitudes and behaviors Will race be a site of coalition between Black immigrants and African Americans In addition to face to face interviews with African Americans and Black immigrants Smith employs nationally representative survey data to examine these shifts in the attitudes of Black Americans Filling a significant gap in the political science literature to date Black Mosaic is a groundbreaking study about the state of race identity and politics in an ever changing America

Intergenerational Consequences of Lifestyle Migration Irmengard K. Wohlfart, 2016-12-31 This book explores the adaptation processes of German speaking immigrants and their descendants into New Zealand s predominantly Anglophone society Specifically it considers the experiences and long term consequences of the migration of more affluent European immigrants to New Zealand where migration was predominantly a lifestyle choice. A comprehensive four year study adds insights into the social integration and assimilation processes of the immigrants and their descendants including intercultural marriage behaviour work and educational achievements and community enrichments. It also considers the institutional and social reception of these immigrants and their children in New Zealand and the effects these have had on them. Nexus Analysis reveals that strong motives for lifestyle migration enabled the immigrants to cope with unexpected institutional setbacks in New Zealand and finds both shifts and maintenance in language and culture and explores feelings of belonging and identities across three generations.

There is increasing interest in the scientific literature on immigrant health and its impact on disease transmission, disease prevention, health promotion, well being on an individual and population level, health policy and the cost of managing all these issues on an individual, institutional, national and global level. The need for accurate and up to date information is particularly acute due to the increasing numbers of immigrants and refugees worldwide as the result of natural disasters, political turmoil, the growing numbers of immigrants to magnet countries and the increasing costs of associated health care that are being felt by governments around the world.

Format and Scope The first portion of the encyclopedia contains chapters that are approximately 25 to 40 manuscript pages in length. Entries are interdisciplinary and are drawn from the following fields of study: anthropology, demographics, history, law, linguistics, medicine, population studies, psychology, religion and sociology. Each entry is followed by a listing of suggested readings and suggested resources and also links to related terms within the whole book.

Outstanding Features The book adopts a biopsychosocial/historical approach to the topics covered in the chapters and the entries. Each entry includes suggested readings and suggested resources. The chapters and entries are written at a graduate level that is accessible to all academics, researchers and professionals from diverse backgrounds.
