obstacles are merely superficial due to man's inertia, thoughtlessness and ignorance while the noiseless undercurrent of the Universal Order Universal Reason is carrying us irresistibly onward. The agent which the Universal Reason here employs as the social bond is a far mightier one than that considered in the previous chapter. There it was conscience which restrains self; here it is the affections which expand self. Conscience does not point to heights of aspiration but takes cognisance only of what falls below a certain line; the affections stimulate Affection that wonderful guest within the human bosom; the outcome of physical passion that surely is the happiest feat of Evolution. Its first advent like the first appearance of every pleasurable fact of consciousness is involved in mystery. It came we know not whence or why. It appeared as has been said on the theatre of man's consciousness he found it pleasant and was thus encouraged to develop it further. It indeed is a most remarkable and noteworthy fact which we later shall have to dwell upon that our loftiest aspirations have the meanest beginnings and have started from the lowest motives. Buckle has insisted that there can be no evolution in morality since moral truths are always the same. Do good to others love thy neighbour.
