Registers and Modes of Communication in the Ancient Near East Kyle H. Keimer,Gillan Davis,2017-09-07 It is the quintessential nature of humans to communicate with each other Good communications bad communications miscommunications or no communications at all have driven everything from world events to the most mundane of interactions At the broadest level communication entails many registers and modes verbal iconographic symbolic oral written and performed Relationships and identities real and fictive arise from communication but how and why were they effected and how should they be understood The chapters in this volume address some of the registers and modes of communication in the ancient Near East Particular focuses are imperial and court communications between rulers and ruled communications intended for a given community and those between families and individuals Topics cover a broad chronological period 3rd millennium BC to 1st millennium AD and geographic range Egypt to Israel and Mesopotamia encapsulating the extraordinarily diverse plurality of human experience This volume is deliberately interdisciplinary and cross cultural and its broad scope provides wide insights and a holistic understanding of communication applicable today It is intended for both the scholar and readers with interests in ancient Near Eastern history and Biblical studies communications especially communications theory and sociolinguistics

Living Sexuality Keith Berry,Catherine M. Gillotti,Tony Adams,2020-03-09 There has never been a more crucial time for an intimate and thorough examination of the ways in which sexuality informs people s lives In Living Sexuality Stories of LGBTQ Relationships Identities and Desires the authors use autoethnography and personal narrative to provide first hand accounts of the connections between sexuality particularly LGBTQ identities and the everyday experiences of relationships Each story also invites readers to understand how sexuality informs communication as it occurs within diverse cultural contexts In addition the stories often focus on taboo issues overlooked or ignored in mainstream research about sexuality Discussion questions appear at the end of each story that should stimulate engagement by students instructors and researchers Cultivating Cosmopolitanism for Intercultural Communication Miriam Sobré-Denton, Nilanjana Bardhan, 2013-06-19 Winner of the National Communication Association's International and Intercultural Communication Division's 2014 Outstanding Authored Book of the Year award This book engages the notion of cosmopolitanism as it applies to intercultural communication which itself is undergoing a turn in its focus from post positivistic research towards critical interpretive and postcolonial perspectives particularly as globalization informs more of the current and future research in the area It emphasizes the postcolonial perspective in order to raise critical consciousness about the complexities of intercultural communication in a globalizing world situating cosmopolitanism the notion of global citizenship as a multilayered lens for research Cosmopolitanism as a theoretical repertoire provides nuanced descriptions of what it means to be and communicate as a global citizen how to critically study interconnectedness within and across cultures and how to embrace differences without glossing over them Moving intercultural communication studies towards the global in complex and nuanced ways this book highlights crucial links between globalization transnationalism postcolonialism cosmopolitanism social injustice and intercultural communication and will help in the creation of classroom spaces devoted to exploring these links It also engages the links between theory and praxis in order to move towards intercultural communication pedagogy and research that simultaneously celebrates and interrogates issues of cultural difference with the aim of creating continuity rather than chasms In sum this book orients intercultural communication scholarship firmly towards the critical and postcolonial while still allowing the incorporation of traditional intercultural communication concepts thereby preparing students scholars educators and interculturalists to communicate ethically in a world that is simultaneously global and local Pedagogies of the Enfleshed Lore/tta LeMaster, 2024-12-15 In Pedagogies of the Enfleshed Critical Communication Pedagogy Otherwise Lore LeMaster proffers a historic account of the rise of education and in turn communication studies as a distinct field of study In doing so the author reconsiders communication's disciplinary origins with less of an emphasis on the mythos of the Ancient Greeks and more accurately relocates them within the historic context of U S settler colonial development and ever expanding empire LeMaster argues that the point of critical communication pedagogy otherwise isn't to instill critical sensibilities into our teaching but to instead draw on lived experiences as grounds for more effective uses of communication to intervene in oppressive relations across in formal pedagogical contexts and in service of liberatory change Where critical communication pedagogy calls for reform critical communication pedagogy otherwise labors in service of liberation within the long arc of revolutionary change beginning from your vantage as educators as learners This is especially crucial LeMaster posits in the face of critical ongoing issues including economic recessions growing climate collapse escalating fascisms amassing white nationalisms and

U S funded genocides all amid an active pandemic Ultimately this book makes a compelling case for the need of new critical communication pedagogy tools or at minimum approaches to communication pedagogy that support critical worldmaking efforts beyond recognition and with resource support at the local level Doing Autoethnography Sandra L. Pensoneau-Conway, Tony E. Adams, Derek M. Bolen, 2017-09-12 In 2011 Doing Autoethnography the first conference to focus solely on autoethnographic principles and practices was held in chilly Detroit Michigan on the campus of Wayne State University The conference has since occurred four additional times 2013 2014 2015 2016 Across the five conferences thousands of attendees from more than ten countries have participated in hundreds of presentations more than a dozen workshops and multiple keynote addresses The chapters in this collection represent outstanding work from the five conferences Together authors interrogate autoethnography ethically theoretically relationally and methodologically Readers will encounter many overlapping themes identity norms and negotiations experiences tied to race gender sexuality size citizenship and dis ability exclusion and belonging oppression injustice and assault barriers to learning education and living with in complicated relationships Some chapters provide clear resolutions others seemingly provide none Some authors highlight conventionally positive aspects of experience others dwell in what might be understood as relational darkness Some experiences will likely resonate with many readers others will feel unique unusual exceptional In its entirety the collection will take readers on an evocative reflexive and insightful journey Embodied Performance as Applied Research, Art and Pedagogy Julie-Ann Scott, 2017-11-06 This book follows a physically disabled researcher s journey from stigmatized embodiment on her way to creating accessible storytelling performances These unique performances function not only as traditional peer reviewed forms of critical qualitative research but also as narrative teaching productions that guide students and their audiences in the pursuit of social justice and equality The book begins by developing the author s personal standpoint and provides an evocative discussion of the multiple perceptions and identities experienced by those with disabled bodies It negotiates how performance research can be created and conducted within the confines of course learning objectives moves through complications encountered in research design and data collection and explores a range of insightful responses from community members social activists and performance critics as well as more traditional academic audiences Critical autoethnographic personal narratives performance scripts and poetry are used to illuminate struggles over legitimate methodological practice and storytelling performance pedagogy Each chapter confronts the fear of mortality that presses us to stigmatize those who remind us of our inescapably vulnerable embodiments and offers hope for an inclusive adaptable culture The book will be compelling reading for scholars in Performance Studies Disability Studies Cultural Studies Narrative Methodology Ethnography Higher Education Autoethnography Creative Nonfiction and everyone interested embodiment and or storytelling for social change Please visit www.uncwstorytelling.org chapter summaries 1 to access supplementary material for the book Autoethnography Tony E. Adams, Stacy Linn Holman Jones, Carolyn

Ellis, 2015 Brimming with examples this book demonstrates how qualitative researchers can use autoethnography as a method for qualitative research Topics include a brief history of autoethnography the purposes and practices of doing autoethnography interpreting analyzing and representing personal experience and evaluating autoethnographic work
